David and Carole Lane – Today will be the last service for David and Carole in their official roles of organist and choir leader. We really appreciate the music leadership, teaching, and encouragement they have contributed to our services over many years. We hope not to lose their undoubted talents completely, as we expect they will continue to join us on a regular basis here at Lingfield. David tells me they are not leaving completely but going on holiday for most of September. There will be cakes (if you are good!) and refreshments available after the service.
